

new improvements

- 1- after typing any count of ### , I want my cursor font back to its normal size , it should be isolated from the header markup sizes that I get by using #
- 2- I need to have the ability (for folder page) to hold on any folder, and drag it into another, once that happens, it makes dragged folder as a sub folder of the parent dragged into folder (this is a native feature from apple? i think) i need to have it fully integrated and well written.
- 3- for the main tasks page, if i have flags added like red or yellow, it should automatically order them by severity (red to yellow) if same color occurs, it ranks based on creation time/date. this should only work like maybe once (not sure how to device this but we shouldn't order it every time, else regular users will get mad. find the right ideal way of doing that, if you think there is no need for that feature to be mainly added (i think we can add a new option from the ... menu that does this feature , u know what ? YES , from ... menus there should be a new option that does it for us if we enable it or select , selecting or deselecting it gets it cancelled.)